THE REAL TAFFY OF TORPEDO JUNCTION

Taffy was the central character in a wildly popular children's book published in the '50s. Republished recently, it is being discovered by a whole new generation. This fictional novel tells the daring antics of an independent young teenager living on Hatteras Island during World War II. "Taffy" was based on the real-life Carol Dillon, Hatteras Island native. She will enthrall you with her stories of what was fiction and what was not. You will be surprised how much was not fiction!

BEACH APPARATUS DRILL

The U.S. Life-Saving Service required all stations to practice this rescue method weekly. Chicamacomico is now the ONLY place in the country—or the world, for that matter—that performs the complete Drill, including live black powder firing and live shot. Popularly known as the "Breeches Buoy Rescue Reenactment," it remains the best show on the Outer Banks! Witness history come alive.

WHAT REALLY HAPPENED TO THE "LOST COLONY"?

Another history's mystery? The longer popular works of drama are around, the more fiction is mistaken for fact. This is simply no 'mystery' at all, once the basic factual history is understood. Where did they go? Right here on Hatteras Island, where they actually first started. Scott Dawson's compelling delivery will have you spellbound. Documentation & evidence abound.
